FAYETTEVILLE — TheatreSquared announced recently its annual Gala for Education, supporting arts-in-education outreach for students and teachers throughout Northwest Arkansas. The event will be held from 7-10 p.m. Nov. 20, at Teatro Scarpino in downtown Fayetteville.

The celebration, catered by chef David Lewis, will feature a special cabaret performance by Broadway veteran and Fayetteville native Robert Sutton.

Louise Schaper, outgoing executive director of Fayetteville Public Library, will receive the 2009 Premier Award.

"I'm proud to support this important educational program, which brings over a thousand students to the theater each year and innovative teaching strategies into the region's classrooms," said Jeff Gearhart, one of the event's co-chairmen and executive vice president at Wal-Mart. "Extending barriers-free access and learning initiatives to our youth is a vital part of what makes Northwest Arkansas such a rich cultural community."

The roster of community co-chairmen for the event includes Ted and Leslie Belden, Jim and Nancy Blair, Patric and Terrye Brosh, Hershey and Denise Garner, Jeff and Lisa Gearhart, and Frank and Sara Sharp.

Guests will have a dinner catered by Lewis, of Fayetteville's Brick House Kitchen, as well as a selection of wines and beer. Dress is business casual.

Sponsorship levels, which include a table of eight at the event, range from $750 to $7,500. Individual tickets are available for $100. Seating in the intimate Teatro Scarpino is limited to 180 guests.

All proceeds from the event will benefit T2 for Education, TheatreSquared's landmark educational program serving students and teachers throughout Northwest Arkansas. Combining the expertise of leading educators and artists, this comprehensive arts-ineducation program offers student performances, teacher workshops, professional training academies and a variety of collaborative educational initiatives.

Those interested in participating in the 2009 T2 Gala for Education should contact Martin Miller, managing director, at 445-6333 or visit theatresquared.org for more information.
